BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
There were giants in the earth
in those days. — Gen. 6:4.
Memory magnifies the past. Returning to the scenes of our childhood we are amazed to find that we saw life from an acute angle.
But we are giants to the rising generation. We should try to justify this hero worship.

Business Pulse Is Strong

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
In late winter, 1956, many experts say the American economy is at a kind of crossroads. The moment is at hand for a turning toward heavier business activity,
if it is to come this year.

Spring normally brings advances in key lines. This time they are especially needed to offset slides in motor making and home building.

If the usual gains do not materialize, then the warning signals against recession would be hoisted.

Most economists probably would say that President Eisenhower's decision to run again is capable of providing the spark the economy needs.

His announcement did not produce a rocketing upsurge on the stock market, but the fact was that a favorable answer had been anticipated since his doctors' promising report. Prices already had risen considerably.

In the long run, of course, businessmen are chiefly influenced not by trends in politics but by the hard economic prospects they see ahead.

If those signs are good, then sooner or later they will be reflected in an upturn.

Nevertheless, it is fair to say that businessmen undoubtedly are encouraged that they may see another five years' continuance of what they regard as the congenial climate of the Eisenhower administration.

Surely if the President's decision had been "no" both the market and the business community generally would have felt a substantial shock.

Not even that could have affected the economy for too long if business factors were bright. But it conceivably could have contributed to a short recession.

That danger is passed. Whether or not Mr. Eisenhower's affirmative decision provides the spark,
it will at least clear the air and allow the nation's business leaders to make their own decisions without extraneous worries.

If a recession should now develop, this will suggest the presence of strong negative economic factors, for example, a feeling that credit is overextended, that car buyers are perhaps oversold, and so on.

Should the reverse prove true
and the current slight sag be wiped out in a new upward thrust, Mr. Eisenhower can take some of the credit but most will belong to the country's basically healthy business condition.

Probably the next 60 days will tell how the economic story is going to run in 1956.

Three Local Students at McKendree Commended For Tornado Work

Three McKendree college students from the Harrisburg area were commended by the mayor of the tornado stricken town of Summerfield, for their clean up work there.

Those who were commended are:
Carolyn Rinder, daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. Alvin Rinder, 421 West South street; Marilyn Ragsdale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Ragsdale, R. R. No. 1; and Robert Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Edwards, Galatia.

These students were among the nearly 80 McKendree college students who volunteered their services to the nearby disaster area.

all other mammals, can drown if water gets in the lungs.

Social Security Reports on Domestic Are Due in April

Social security reports are due in April from housewives in southern Illinois who employ domestic workers, according to E. Bishop Hill, manager of the Harrisburg
district office, Social Security Administration. Housewives are required to make these records during April on household workers paid as much as $50 in cash wages
in January, February, and March.
This is the fifth quarterly report due since the new law covered household employees without regard to the number of days worked. Reports are sent to the District Director of Internal Revenue
at Springfield.

Work of cooks, maids, housekeepers, gardeners and other workers in a private household counts toward eligibility for retirement or death payments under old-age and survivors insurance if they are paid at least $50 cash wages by one employer in a calendar year. If the household employee works long enough to be insured, benefits are payable in old age or to certain survivors
in case of death.

Free booklets explaining the employer's obligation and benefits to the employee are available at the social security office at Harrisburg.

In the same period that 33,417
Americans lost their lives in the Korean campaign, 650,000 Americans died of cancer.

"Always Happy to Lend a Hand"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Parachuters With Drawn Pistols Protect Atomic Airplane Engine; Prodigious Senate Efforts Made To Stop Wayne Morse Speech Against Eastland; the Mississippi Senator
Shakes Hands With Oregon
Senator Afterward.

WASHINGTON. — If you should see 10 civilian parachute jumpers with drawn revolvers standing around a grounded airplane, don't be alarmed. They are not men from Mars, but protectors of the public from radioactive rays in connection with the new atomic reactor which will power airplanes of the future.

This new atomic engine is now being carried aloft in test flights near Fort Worth, Texas. It is not being used to power the plane yet but is carried in the plane to see how it reacts to certain altitudes.

If anything should happen to the B-36 carrying it, however, the Air Force doesn't want the public below to suffer from radioactivity in case of a crash. Elaborate precautions therefore have been taken.

First the atomic reactor will be parachuted to earth. Second, 10 civilians fly alongside the B-36 carrying the atomic engine. Para-chutes are strapped to their backs.
And if the B-36 should crash and the atomic engine is bailed out,
the 10 parachutists bail out alongside with orders to surround the reactor and keep the public away.
Cheerful Thought — Airplane accidents of the future are going to be all the more dangerous. Radioactive rays can contaminate passengers in case of a crack-up.

BATTLE OVER EASTLAND

Some significant backstage conferences took place before and after Sens. Wayne Morse of Oregon and Herbert Lehman of New York
made their fight against Sen.
James Eastland of Mississippi to be chairman of the key Judiciary committee.

One conference took place the day before the Senate fight when a group of liberal Democrats tried to persuade Morse from taking a stand against Eastland. They told him he was sure to lose, was fighting a hopeless battle.

"Eastland's friends will retaliate against you by cutting appropriations for public works," Morse was advised, referring to the fact that public works are important to the Far West.

"All you're doing is guaranteeing that I make the speech," Morse replied.

He went on to argue that Eastland had virtually accused the U.
S. Supreme Court of treason, therefore should not be in charge of judicial matters; that he had investigated the New York Times
when other members of his committee knew almost nothing about the investigation; and that in general Eastland had out-McCarthy'd McCarthy. To make a man of this type chairman of a committee which passes on 50 per cent of the Senate's legislation merely because of the accident of seniority,
Morse argued, was a mistake.
But of the liberals present, only Neuberger of Oregon and Mc-Namara of Michigan agreed to go along with him on a roll-call vote.

MORSE'S BED

Later from 7 to 8:30 that evening Morse met with acting Democratic Leader Earl Clements of Kentucky and Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota who also urged him not to make the fight against Eastland.

"I don't blame you, but I don't think you're wise," argued Humphrey. "It will hurt your re-election in Oregon."

"Are you ready to go downtown
and buy me a new bedroom suite if I follow your advice?" Morse asked.

The two senators didn't understand him.
"Because if I follow your advice," Morse explained, "my conscience will have to remain in my present bed."

Next day Morse went ahead with the speech. He did not attack Eastland personally, nor the right of Mississippi to send whomever it wished to the Senate. He did criticize the placing of a man at the head of the Judiciary committee who would act as the spokesman of the entire Senate, yet who, he said, did not represent the Senate.

Lehman of New York was the only man who backed him up.
Though Eastland was kept in the Senate cloakroom, there was considerable tension on the Senate floor. The vote, as predicted, went overwhelmingly against Morse and Lehman.

After the vote, several senators came over to see Morse.

"Though I tried to dissuade
you," said Earl Clements, "that was a magnificent job. No one can say you did not keep it on a high impersonal plane."

"I've seen a man of courage in action today," said Mansfield of Montana. "Instead of hurting the party, you've helped it."

EASTLAND SITS BY MORSE
Even fair-minded John Stennis of Mississippi, who conducted the defense of his Mississippi colleague, came over to Morse on the Senate floor.

"I told these people that if you took the leadership in this fight you'd put it on a high plane," he said. "That was a powerful speech."

Finally Eastland himself came out of the cloakroom and slid into a seat beside the senator from Oregon who had challenged his right to be Judiciary chairman.

"Wayne," he said, "I feel badly that you were against me, but you and I are lawyers, and I want to thank you for the high plane of your legal argument."

And as usually happens in the U.

S. Senate, the two men continued to differ on issues but continued to follow the traditions of the "world's most exclusive club."

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Ex-Speaker Joe Martin of Massachusetts was being quizzed by newsmen about various subjects.
Finally he was asked what he thought of Gov. Chris Herter from Joe's home state as vice-presidential running-mate for Ike. "I gotta make a speech," replied Martin. "I ain't in the vice-presidential fight." He rushed off . . .

The Flannel

...so Popular
for Spring!

Even the hardest-to-please man makes a prompt decision to buy when he tries on one of our new Hyde Park flannels. Maybe it's the remarkable luxury of the fabric, or the flattering new light greys or charcoals, maybe it's the way the straight-line design makes him look naturally tall and trim. Whatever the reason, we'll bet you buy it if you try it.

Lobby Probers Search for 'Quality' Staff

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson said today that the Senate's investigation of lobbying will be "fruitful" despite delays in getting it organized.

The Texas Democrat said he regrets that some people believe the delay in launching the investigation will limit its scope or effectiveness.

In rapid-fire weekend activity the lobbying investigating committee finally cleared its major hurdle—a partisan dispute over rules—and named Sen. John L. McClellan chairman. Immediately the group began searching for a "quality" staff.

McClellan promised all possible speed. But he cautioned that it will not be possible to organize the staff for such an important investigation quickly.

The investigation was ordered by the Senate after the furor which developed over a $2,500 campaign contribution offered to, but rejected by, Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) during controversy over the natural gas bill.

Sees No Stigma
Sen. Ralph Flanders (R-Vt.), commenting on lobbying for the natural gas bill, said Sunday that "four or five men a day" from the oil-gas industry came to see him during Senate debate on the measure.

Flanders said he told them he thought they were "overdoing it." He said the men were "not professional lobbyists" and did not seem to be part of an "organized effort." But he added that their efforts were "highly concentrated."

In a radio debate on lobbying, Sen. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb.) said that there should be "no stigma" attached to a gift to a political campaign.

"It is just as honorable for someone to make a gift to a campaign as it is for his neighbor to ring doorbells, to attend political meetings, or maybe another neighbor offering himself as a candidate for political office," he said.

But Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) said that any man in public office who is "benefited" by $10,000 or $20,000 "from a family that owns oil and wants something done in the field of oil" is "obligated."

Cottage Home Bureau Meets With Mrs. J. C. Miller

The Cottage Home Bureau unit met Thursday, March 8, at the home of Mrs. J. C. Miller.

In the absence of the chairman, the vice chairman, Mrs. Eugene Lamkin, called the meeting to order. Roll call was answered by 13 members with "my favorite school subject." The minutes were read and approved.

The 4-H chairman, Mrs. Raymond Alvey, gave a report, and also told of the program planning. Mrs. Lamkin gave the major lesson "Drapery for Your Windows," and Mrs. Bill Kaid gave the minor lesson, "Cake Decorating." Mrs. Clyde Miller received a decorated cake when Mrs. Kaid completed her lesson.

The hostess served refreshments to the following: Mrs. Raymond Alvey, Mrs. Mabel Alvey, Mrs. L. A. Berry and daughter, Mrs. Alfred Johnson, Mrs. Bill Kaid, Mrs. Eugene Lamkin, Mrs. Clyde Miller, Mrs. Eugene Miller, Mrs. Hazel McCue, Mrs. Willie Robinson, Mrs. Wayne Stallins, Mrs. Simon Sutton, and visitors, Mrs. Dorothy Swartz and daughter.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Ralph Billman.

Soldiers for Jesus Class Meets at Gidcomb Home

Friday evening, March 9, the Soldiers for Jesus class of the Social Brethren church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Winston Gidcomb for the monthly social. Opening prayer was led by Eugene Wilson and roll call for the month of March was answered with scripture verses beginning with the letter M. A short testimonial was held and business discussed. It was decided that the April meeting would be a wiener roast at Karel park.

Following the business session music and entertainment was furnished by a trio, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Leighman Walker, and Rev. Earl Vaughn, who sang several church favorites, and by Donald Cooper who sang a solo "Victory in Jesus." They were accompanied by Mrs. James Gwaltney at the piano and Mrs. Donald Cooper who played the accordion. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper were especially invited guests.

Games were played directed by Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Wilson.

Refreshments of chicken and cheese salad sandwiches, date pudding topped with whipped cream, coffee and Cokes were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Charles Hale and Mrs. Lawrence Reed. The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holland, Rev. and Mrs. Earl Vaughn and children, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hale and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Leighman Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cooper, Mrs. James Gwaltney, Mrs. Lawrence Reed, class teacher, and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Winston Gidcomb, and daughter, Lucy Ann.

McKinley Baptist Naomi Class Has Potluck Meeting

The Naomi Sunday school class of the McKinley Avenue Baptist church met recently for a potluck dinner meeting.

Following a bountiful meal the business session opened with the song "Sweet Hour of Prayer" and with prayer by Mrs. Mollie Ervin. Minutes were read and roll call was answered with a scripture verse.

A chapter from the Bible was read and several short talks were made. The sick and shut-ins were remembered in prayer by Mrs. Ora Lorrison.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McCarty and Billy, Mr. and Mrs. Kirt Gasaway, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Gulley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beal, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hendren, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Malady, Mrs. Gertrude Hutchinson, Mrs. Frances Ingram, Mrs. Mabel Meadows, Mrs. Maud Nelson, Mrs. Ollie Fulkerson, Mrs. Ollie Stricklin, Mrs. Nancy Fowler, Mrs. Mollie Ervin, Mrs. Hazel Smith, Mrs. Sam Reed, Mrs. Nora Maddox, Mrs. R. B. Wise, Mrs. Janie Parritt, Mrs. Mary Walker, Mrs. Dean Pierson, Mrs. Mattie Rogers, Mrs. Charles Lamar, Mrs. Ora Lorrison, Mrs. Mertha Asbridge, Mrs. Mona Gaskins and Mrs. Della Mathis.

The closing song was "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

Pro-Segregation Leader Expelled By U. of Alabama

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—The University of Alabama trustees today "permanently expelled" 20-year-old Leonard Wilson, student pro-segregation leader, for his part in the Autherine Lucy riots and for his subsequent "unwarranted and outrageous" attacks on university officials.

The expulsion was announced by the trustees in an unusual departure from their policy of not revealing the names of students disciplined.

The trustees thus meted out to Wilson the same punishment imposed on Miss Lucy, who was expelled after three days as Alabama's first Negro student for bringing in court charges, not later substantiated, that university officials had conspired to create or condone the student riots which accompanied her arrival on the campus.

Wilson was active in those demonstrations. During a weekend demonstration preceding the riots, he scaled a flagpole in the town square of Tuscaloosa, shouting that Miss Lucy "must go." Later he was named temporary chairman of a white citizens council group and told the group the university needed "a housecleaning from top to bottom."

Faithful Followers Meet With Mrs. Theda Miller

The Faithful Followers class of the Big Ridge Baptist church met Tuesday, March 6, at the home of Mrs. Theda Miller for the monthly social. The meeting was opened by singing the class song followed by prayer by Mrs. Eva Muge.

Nine members answered roll call. Minutes were read and approved and the treasurer gave her report. Each member was asked to continue in daily prayer for the coming revival and to visit prospective members. Tentative plans for a social were made.

Mrs. Genevieve Alvey gave the devotion and closing. Mrs. Barbara Miller was in charge of recreation.

The hostess, Mrs. Theda Miller, served delicious refreshments to the following:

Mrs. Erma J. Alvey, Mrs. Genevieve Alvey, Mrs. Emily J. Fox, Mrs. Jean M. Fox, Mrs. Barbara Miller, Mrs. Eva Muge, Mrs. Shirley Wintzler, and Mrs. Margaret Wise.

The April meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Erma J. Alvey.

Union Chapel Volunteers Class Has Potluck Dinner

The Volunteers class of Union Chapel church met recently in the church basement.

The devotion was given by Paul Drott.

Recreation was under the direction of Vola Stittig who presented a game "Dollar a Second." The prize was given to Mr. and Mrs. Dean Guye.

Plans were made for redecorating the church basement with various committees appointed to make arrangements for this project.

A chicken dinner with all the trimmings was served to Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Winders and Freddie, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Escue and Charles, Rev. and Mrs. V. L. Stittig and sons, Gene and Leslie, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Drott and Charles and Phyllis, Rev. and Mrs. Dean Guye and Darlene, Mr. and Mrs. George Bond and Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Riegel and Lowell and Gary, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Riegel and Linda, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Woodiel and June and Brenda, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill McIlrath and children, Judy and Jimmie.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ford had as their guests Sunday afternoon Mrs. Edith Sullivan of Chicago and her sister, Ruth Lane of Harrisburg.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my grandson, Robert McReynolds, who passed away March 12, thirteen years ago today:

Little we knew with the dawn that morn,
The sorrow it would bring.
The blow was hard, the shock severe.

We little thought the end was near.
If all the world was ours to give,
We would give it, yes and more,
To see your smiling face
Come shining through the door.
Sometimes it is hard to understand,
Why some things have to be,
But in His wisdom God had planned.

Beyond our power to see,
God gave us strength to bear it,
And courage to meet the blow,
But what I meant to lose you,
The world will never know.
The beautiful things you did for us,
Live in our hearts each day,
And keep you near and dear to us,
Though you have passed away.
Sadly missed by his grandmother,
Mrs. Maggie Kimbro, who reared him and his mother, Mrs. Elvert Falles, Muncie, Ind., and a host of friends. 210-1

Kiwanis Clubs To Sponsor Ballot Battalion Drives

Kiwanis clubs throughout the United States will sponsor Ballot Battalion campaigns in their various communities this year. It was announced by J. A. Raney, president of Kiwanis International, at the mid-winter meeting of the organization's officers and board of trustees in Chicago. The Ballot Battalion campaign is a three-fold one, Raney said, through which Kiwanis clubs will urge citizens to register, to inform themselves on candidates and issues, and to vote — in both primary and general elections.

In calling on the nation's nearly 4000 Kiwanis clubs to take an aggressive but non-partisan role in "getting out the vote," Raney quoted the endorsements of the Ballot Battalion made by Paul Butler, chairman of the Democratic National committee, and Leonard W. Hall, of the Republican National committee.

Butler said: "All success to you in your Ballot Battalion campaign to inform and stimulate American citizens to exercise the privilege and responsibility of casting their ballots. I approve wholeheartedly of your stated objectives of getting all citizens to know their candidates and their platforms along with getting them to register and vote."

Republican National Committee Chairman Hall said: "In the 1956 elections, it is imperative that all citizens exercise their priceless obligation of selecting leaders of integrity, principle, and honesty to carry forward the continuing progress of our great nation. By knowing the candidates and their platforms, and by registering and finally by voting on election day, all Americans must again prove to the world how valuable is the freedom of choice which we enjoy in selecting men and women truly representative of the spirit of freedom, enterprise and initiative. There is no greater privilege available to any American than the exercise of the free ballot. Let's all register and vote in 1956."

Mr. and Mrs. Hall Nicholson and son, Hal David and Eva Sue spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Nicholson.

Mrs. Alice Joyner and daughter, Vickie, of Mt. Vernon, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Orlie Boswell.

Arab Big Three Complete Plans For Defense

CAIRO — The Arab "big three" today announced completion of "co-ordinated Arab defense plans" to meet any Israeli aggression.

The meeting of minds was announced in a joint communique issued at the conclusion of the "summit" conference of the leaders of Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Syria.

Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt, King Saud of Saudi Arabia and President Shukri El-Kuwatli of Syria met here to coordinate political and military policies.

The statement said that "an all-inclusive plan has been laid down to coordinate Arab defense plans in order to face any act of violence Israel might resort to."

It said that the big three of the Arab world also agreed that "all possible support should be given Jordan and every help extended to her in the event of any foreign pressure or Zionist aggression."

It added that King Hussein of Jordan already had been advised of the complete readiness of Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Syria to assist Jordan and stand by her side.

Jordan has been under heavy pressure from the three Arab states to join their "neutralist" camp since King Hussein fired British Lt. Gen. Sir John Glubb as commander of the Arab Legion.

The communique said that an "all conclusive plan has been set up regarding the situation arising from the attitude certain states have adopted by allowing the recruitment of their subjects in the Israeli armed forces."

Burrows dug by armadillos occasionally hold strange neighbors. One in Texas housed the digger in his den at the end, while a four-foot rattlesnake and a cottontail rabbit used side chambers, the National Geographic Society says.

Two Illinois Guard Officers Killed In Airplane Crash

SPARTA, Wis. (AP)—Two Illinois National Guard officers died and two companions were seriously burned in the crash of their C45 twin engine plane near here Satur-day.

The victims were Majors Robert

Eva Evans teacher; fifth grade, Victor Dale Gibbs, Rudement, Eva Evans teacher; sixth grade, Mary Alice Fife, Duncan, Mary Hogg teacher; seventh grade, Judy Gid-cumb, Lora Knickerbocker teacher; eighth grade, Shirley Dowdy, Duncan, Mary Hogg teacher.

McDonald, 44, the pilot, and Byron Nudd, 45, Col. Richard Boerem, 50, and Lt. Col. Harold Pacha, 37, survived the crash on a hillside 10 miles southeast of here but were in serious condition from burns and shock at Sparta hospital.

The plane crashed into the hill-side Saturday during a blinding snowstorm, while the officers were en route from a Camp McCoy, Wis., meeting to their hometown of Springfield, Ill. Boerem and Pacha were discovered wandering through the blizzard by a farm-hand who had gone to investigate the explosion. Eight inches of snow fell in the area Saturday.

Night-Clubbing Rooster and Wandering Bull Whoop It Up in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—A cock and bull went on the town Sunday night. The cock went night-clubbing on the Near North Side and the bull played the starring role with two amateur matadors on the South Side.

Neither was allowed to whoop it up for long. The rooster fell into the clutches of the anti-cruelty society, and the matadors—other-wise known as policemen—polished off the bull with gunfire.

The cock chose to go pub-crawl-ing near State and Division streets on the edge of the night club dis-trict.

He wandered in and out of night clubs, causing habitués to wonder if they shouldn't swear off hard liquor. The anti-cruelty society workers finally put an end to the rooster's binge and decided, on the basis of a string on the bird's leg, that he was a pet who had slipped his leash.

The other part of this cock and bull story got underway when a livestock truck on its way to the stockyards stopped for a red light.

The bull hopped out and trotted off to see the sights. Five squads of police cars gave chase, follow-ing the bull down streets and thru vacant lots near Midway Airport. Patrolmen John Coles and Mar-ion Grzekiewicz cornered the bull in a vacant lot. But they did not have enough of the matador's skill to get him back into the truck. In-stead, the bull showed signs of making a frontal attack and the policemen reluctantly opened fire.

Boy is Crushed to Death in Game Of 'Elevator Tag'

CHICAGO (AP)—Nine-year-old Donnie Harper was crushed to death Sunday night while playing what tenants called a game of "elevator tag" in his 15-story apart-ment house.

Police were told the Harper boy was watching the progress of George White, also 9, in another elevator by holding a finger on the emergency button which kept the doors open between floors.

A resident said Harper's finger apparently slipped from the button while his arm and leg were out-side the cab. The boy was crushed as the cab began moving down-ward.

Lakers Clinch Third Place Tie

By United Press

The Minneapolis Lakers stuck one foot inside the door of the National Basketball Assn. playoffs today, while the Syracuse Nationals and New York Knickerbockers continued to battle for the last remaining ticket.

The Lakers clinched at least a tie for third place in the Western Division by crushing the Rochester Royals, 126-98, at Minneapolis Sunday. The Lakers need to win only one of two remaining games to clinch the position and the berth outright; Rochester has finished its season.

Syracuse and New York remained tied for third place in the East by winning Sunday games. The Nats downed Philadelphia, 99-88, and the Knicks trounced Fort Wayne, 122-96. Each has two games left; tonight the Nats meet St. Louis and the Knicks play Minneapolis.

In the other Sunday game, the St. Louis Hawks clinched a tie for second place in the Western Division by beating Boston, 127-121.

Ford Denies His Firm Pressured for Campaign Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Ford II told congressional investigators today his assistant "as a private citizen" sought contributions from Ford dealers for the 1952 Eisenhower election campaign. But Ford denied that anyone in the Ford Motor Co. to his knowledge pressured dealers for campaign contributions for either of the 1952 presidential candidates.

He identified his assistant as Allen W. Merrell, a member of the Republican National Finance Committee and delegate-at-large to the 1952 Republican national convention.

Milton Ratner, a former Chicago Ford dealer, told the Senate auto marketing practices subcommittee last month that a fellow dealer told him Ford wanted Chicago dealers to donate $50,000 each to the GOP campaign in 1952.

Subcommittee Chairman A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) said after Ratner testified that the subcommittee had "a letter purporting to come from the office of Henry Ford II" urging some Illinois dealers to donate to the 1952 GOP campaign.

High Winds, Fire Harass California

By United Press

High winds and fire harassed Californians near Los Angeles today.

Gale-force winds up to 70 miles an hour picked up a fire in the dry brush country of Haines Canyon in the Verdugo Mountains near Los Angeles, destroyed two homes and threatened others, and drove some dwellers out of their residences. The winds deroofed buildings, broke windows, trees and power lines.

World War One General Dies at Age 80

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa (AP) — Dr. Mathew Tinley, 80, World War I commander of the 168th Infantry Division, died Sunday in a hospital of pneumonia.

Tinley, a retired lieutenant general, was one of the few Army combat officers who was at the same time a practicing physician.

Tinley commanded the 34th National Guard Division after World War I, which then was made up from Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota and the Dakotas. During World War II, Tinley commanded the Iowa State Guard.

Batters Pound Pitchers in Exhibition Tilts

Collect 139 Hits, 18 Homers in Eight Games

By United Press

The pitchers are supposed to be ahead of the batters in spring training but the hitters pounded that old theory to bits Sunday by collecting 139 hits, including 18 homers, in eight major league exhibition games.

The managers shuffled 54 pitchers into those contests and the batter showed who was boss from Florida to Arizona by making 105 runs. Thirty-seven of these were produced by the 18 homers.

Even the pitchers got into the long-range hitting act. Right-hander Vernon Law of the Pittsburgh Pirates hit a four-run homer to pace an 11-1 triumph over the Kansas City Athletics and left-hander Johnny Antonelli joined Willie Mays and Ray Katt in producing the trio of two-run homers that enabled the New York Giants to whip the Cleveland Indians for the second straight time, 11-5.

Lepcio Cleans Slacks

Here's how some of Sunday's other batting heroes mistreated the pitchers:

Infielder Ted Lepcio hit a grand slam homer off rookie right-hander Ralph Mauriello and drove in one other run to lead a 17-hit attack that crushed the Brooklyn Dodgers, 17-5. A crowd of 11,570 watched the Red Sox defeat the world champions for the second straight time at Miami, Fla.

Outfielder Henry Aaron hit two consecutive homers over the 433 foot centerfield fence at Bradenton, Fla., and Bill Bruton also homered to help the Milwaukee Braves whip the Philadelphia Phillies, 8-2. Aaron's drives were the first ever to clear that part of the wall.

Center fielder Mickey Mantle hit a three-run homer with two out in the eighth inning to give the New York Yankees a 4-3 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Wait Moryn's three-run homer and Monte Irvin's two-run home, sparked the Chicago Cubs to a 13-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles at Mesa, Ariz. The Orioles helped the Cubs by giving eight walks and they made seven errors.

Doby Leads Chisox

Larry Doby, the outfielder the Chicago White Sox obtained from the Indians during the winter, broke into the lineup in grand style with his new mates by getting three singles and scoring the winning run in a 6-5, 10-inning triumph over the Cincinnati Redlegs at Tampa, Fla.

Rookie outfielder Ben Downs hit a homer and a single to drive in two runs during a 5-4 Detroit triumph over the Washington Senators at Orlando, Fla.

Besides his four-run homer, Law was one of the few pitchers who dominated the hitters. The Pirate right-hander shut out the Athletics without a hit or a run during the first three innings at Fort Myers, Fla.

Ten of the 16 runs scored in the Giants-Indians game at Phoenix, Ariz., resulted from homers. Mays who led the majors in homers last season with 51, has hit three in his last two games. Rookies Dick Brown and Carroll Hardy each hit two-run homers in a losing cause for the Indians.

W. Rockford Leads List of 16 Teams Into 'Super-Sectionals' of State Play

West Frankfort Has Home Advantage In Tilt With Pincks

By United Press

Four repeaters from last year and 12 "newcomers" Tuesday night will battle for survival in the Illinois high school basketball tourney "super-sectionals" at eight sites around the state.

Leading the list of 16 finalists is Rockford West, expected to follow Elgin and Mount Vernon in winning two state championships in a row. The champion Warriors have two of their three big boys back from last year, rebounding wizard, Nolden Gentry, high-scoring John Wessels, both 6 feet, 7 inches.

Fred Boshela, the hard-fighting forward of last year's team is gone, but replacing him is Don Slaughter, 6-3, and reported to be a better scorer than Boshela. The Warriors guard are 6-3 and 6-1. West will run up against Galesburg, also a state finalist in 1955 and now ranked third in the state, in the Moline super-sectional Tuesday. Galesburg will have to lean heavily on 6-5 Bill Granting to counter the Gentry-Wessels combination under the boards.

High-scoring Russ Lind and Jerry Odell and sparkling Mike Owens head a fast-moving Galesburg attack. The Silver Streaks eliminated Moline in sectional play, and Moline was the only team to beat Rockford West this season, although West was playing without Wessels.

Two Teams Survive

The other two teams in the 1955 finals which have survived are Pinckneyville and Quincy.

Effingham St. Anthony, which has a 29-1 season mark but only three players who slightly top the 6-foot mark, will take on high-scoring, hard-rebounding Edwards-ville, which also lacks height, but little else.

In this game, to be played at Salem, St. Anthony will have to stop forward Manny Jackson, 6-1, and center Governor Vaughn, 6-3, the second and third leading scorers in the Southwest conference.

West Frankfort, which has a 20-10 record, will be taking on the state's second-ranking club, Pinckneyville, 29-3, at West Frankfort.

This will give the Red Birds the home floor advantage, which the Pincks enjoyed when they nosed out Herrin in that double-overtime sectional thriller Friday.

Peoria Central, with big Gene Toms and Jim Polk heading a team that shot near 500 for the entire season, will be favored over La Salle-Peru in the Peoria super.

Whiz Kid's Kids

La Salle-Peru's Cavaliers, who have a 21-5 season record, now have a good shooting guard in Tommy Shea and will be represented in the rebounding department by big Bob Parnisaki. La Salle-Peru is coached by former Illinois Whiz Kid Gene Vance.

At Hinsdale, Oak Park, 16-7, a club that was in and out all season, will challenge South Suburban champ Chicago Heights. Bloom has lost its high-scoring forward Grady McCullom, who before 20 years old the day after sectional play and was therefore ineligible. Bloom has a 22-5 record.

New Trier, whose high-scoring 6-3 John Magnuson is ranked as one of the Chicago area's best college prospects, will tackle this year's Chicago entry, the Dunbar mighty men, who have lost only twice in 23 outings, while the Indians might have an 18-8 mark.

Melvin Davis, a 6-4 forward, will be the Dunbar scoring threat, with center Charles Dixon and Alphonse Saunders, a guard, close behind.

Taylorville, the Cinderella team of this year's tourney, will battle Rantoul at Decatur. The Tornados had won only eight games before starting tournament play but now have added five more. Forward Bruce Meriwether and guard Bob Frisina are the chief whirlwinds in the fast Taylorville attack.

Rantoul, 22-7, is co-champion of the Waukegan conference and has a 6-7 center, Dave Moran, who averaged nearly 24 points a game in regular season play.

At Springfield, Quincy's Blue Devils, 26-5, will be facing a Springfield Lanphier team that has

STUDEBAKER

Just a Corpse at Twilight

By Robert Martin

XXVI

After the funeral Dr. Ludwig Van Horn and a younger man were waiting for me in the Winchester Inn's dining room. Both were drinking coffee. Van Horn was a big man with a thick mane of black hair graying over his ears. He had a heavy ugly face and very sharp black eyes behind thick-lensed glasses. I had met him several times, but the younger man was a stranger. Van Horn waved a hand as I approached their table and spoke in his guttural voice, "Hello, Bennett. This is my assistant, Dr. Jerry Martingale."

As I shook hands with Dr. Martingale, I decided that he was young enough to be just out of medical school and would be working for the state long enough to save enough money for instruments, drugs and office rent before starting his own practice. Van Horn was employed by the Commission on a consulting basis and was one of the two or three really brilliant pathologists in the state. Dr. Martingale looked more like a sophomore track star than a doctor; he was tall and rangy, his blond hair was clipped short in the approved Ivy League fashion, and his clothes were Ivy League, too—gray flannel suit, button-down collar, regimental striped tie. He had a round snub-nosed face, friendly brown eyes and even teeth.

I sat down, declined Dr. Van Horn's offer to order me some coffee, and said, "You're early. I didn't look for you until around 5."

Van Horn smiled. When he smiled, his face was no longer ugly. "We finished early over in Mohawk County, and Jerry is a fast driver. Tell me a little about this work we are to do this afternoon. I have gone over the file, of course, but I would like to hear it from you."

"Name of Frank Osborn," I said. "A three-year history of silicosis. Total disability. Then death, suddenly—coronary occlusion. A Dr. Jarrett, of this county, signed the death certificate. Naturally, the state did not pay the death award to the widow at the time, but now the investigation department feels that the cause of death should be definitely established, even though death occurred six months ago. There is the possibility of future litigation and claims."

"I understand that," Van Horn broke in impatiently. "You want me to establish definitely the cause of death. I will do that. Do you have the widow's permission?"

"Yes, sir. I mailed it to Mr. O'Connor."

"I would like to speak to the widow, if possible, before we start. Sometimes a talk with a witness saves me time—symptoms, you know. I take it she was present when her husband died?"

"Yes," I said, "but you can't talk to her. I have just come from her funeral."

"How sad. Was it sudden?"

"Very. A bullet from a target rifle struck her in the heart region while she was working in her kitchen."

He sighed heavily. "These senseless accidents, they are tragic."

"Yes," I said, thinking that I would tell him the complete story after the autopsy. There was no point in confusing him now.

He lifted a hand. "Never mind. I understand there was some difficulty about facilities, and that we must work at the burial site?"

"That's right. I'm sorry, Doctor."

He waved a hand. "It does not matter. The necessary tissue and organs can be removed and taken to my laboratory. Has the body been exhumed?"

"Not yet, but they're digging. We should be able to start shortly, though. Whenever you're ready, I'll take you out to the cemetery."

"Good. One more cup of coffee."

The waitress brought our coffee. I lit a cigarette and said to Van Horn, "Do you know Dr. Jarrett?"

"Not personally, I know his record."

Suddenly I remembered my promise to Lucy Dorn, and I said, "Doctor, would you object to another person watching you work?"

He lifted his heavy shoulders. "No—just so they do not interfere."

"She won't. She writes mystery novels and wants some first-hand dope on an autopsy, so that she can write about one accurately."

"Let her come. She will probably be sick after the first incision."

"Thank you, Doctor. Excuse me a moment." I left the table and entered the lobby. Mrs. Dorn came from the kitchen.

"Hello, Mr. Bennett." She smiled, but her eyes were worried.

"Hello. Is Lucy around?"

"She's upstairs, I think. She had a headache."

"Could I call her?"

"Certainly." She nodded at the phone on the desk and turned to the switchboard. I picked up the phone.

Lucy Dorn's voice answered and before I could speak she said sharply, "Dick, there is no use in your calling me any more. I told you that I won't go away with you."

"This is Jim Bennett."

"Oh. I—I thought it was Dick calling again."

"I just wanted to tell you that we're going out to the cemetery to do the autopsy pretty soon. I'll wait for you, if you like."

"Oh, yes." She sounded tired. "I don't think I want to see it, after all."

Israel Charges Egyptian Troop Concentrations

JERUSALEM (Israeli Sector) — Israel today reported new border incidents with Egypt, Syria and Jordan and accused Egypt of concentrating troops and armored forces along the frontier in a warlike atmosphere.

In Cairo the Arab "big three" conference was ending with the heads of state of Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Syria lining up their cold and hot war policies against Israel but failing to "buy" Jordan away from British influence.

In the Suez Canal an American cargo ship, the James Monroe, was moving toward Saudi Arabia with 18 U. S.-built Walker Bulldog tanks. The ship, convoyed by Egyptian vessels, was expected to traverse the canal some time today and head for Saudi Arabia.

The United Nations Armistice Commission promised an immediate investigation of the new Israel charges made by a spokesman for the Israeli Foreign Ministry. Israel said the troop concentrations constituted a "direct threat" to Israel security.

Israel said increasing numbers of Egyptian fighting forces had massed in recent weeks in the disputed Gaza Strip and the El Arish areas in violation of the armistice agreement and far exceeding any defense requirements.

Israel also reported these new incidents along the border.

1. An Israel army spokesman said a patrol captured three Jordan infiltrators near Lachish after a brief fight and then encountered a second group of Jordanian infiltrators and drove them off in a second fight.

2. A spokesman said Syrian troops fired several shots at an Israel fishing vessel on Lake Kinneret. The vessel was not hit.

3. A spokesman said an Egyptian position opened fire twice on Israel positions in the Kissufim area east of the Gaza Strip. The Israelis returned the fire and there were no casualties.

Register Tuesday For Non-Credit Night Courses at Eldorado

A series of non-credit night courses will be offered to Eldorado area adults this spring by the Southern Illinois University Division of Technical and Adult Education in cooperation with Eldorado Township high school.

Registration for the classes is scheduled Tuesday, March 13, at 7 p. m. in the high school. The first session will be held immediately following registration.

Courses being offered are Accounting I, Intermediate Typing and Beginning Drafting for Construction Trades. The weekly class meetings will be held on Tuesdays from 7 to 9:30 p. m.

Students should be prepared to pay tuition and book fees at registration. The costs range from $13 to $20. Veterans may use the Illinois Military scholarship to cover the fees, but must provide the registrar with a photostatic copy of discharge papers.

Additional information may be obtained from W. A. Knoop, principal of Eldorado Township high school.

Missions from 12 Nations Call on Pope Pius

VATICAN CITY — Special missions from 12 nations called on Pope Pius XII today to congratulate him on the 17th anniversary of his coronation.

The missions were part of the 51 special delegations which attended a solemn papal chapter in St. Peter's Basilica Sunday.

Finland's ambassador to the Holy See, Helge Knorring, acting as special representative to the anniversary celebrations, was first to be ushered into the Pope's presence.

He was followed at five to 10-minute intervals by the delegates of Bolivia, Colombia, The Philippines, Germany, Britain, India, Luxembourg, Monaco, Portugal, the province of Quebec and Viet Nam.

Vatican City offices were closed and white-yellow papal flags flew from public buildings today to mark the 17th anniversary of the Pope's coronation March 12, 1939.

Most of the mission chiefs planned to present birthday gifts to the pontiff during the private audiences in the Pope's library.

John A. McCone, a Los Angeles business man, represented President Eisenhower, the first presidential representative to come to the Vatican in six years.

The 80-year-old Pope stood at an open window Sunday and gave his blessing to 50,000 persons who braved a snowstorm to pay tribute to his life and his reign.

Eden, Mollet Strengthen Two-Nation Unity

LONDON — Britain appeared today to have halted a French swing toward neutralism that could have wrecked joint Western policy.

The two nations issued a joint communique announcing they had reached "wide agreement" and strengthened joint policy after a hurried, 24-hour meeting between the British and French prime ministers.

"They reaffirmed their attachment to the Atlantic alliance and their intention to maintain and reinforce the common front of the free nations," the communique said.

French Premier Guy Mollet then flew to face a critical confidence vote in Paris after his conference with Prime Minister Anthony Eden at Eden's country estate outside London.

"I can declare with immense pleasure that Franco-British relations have never been better," Mollet told newsmen when he landed at Paris.

Eden last week issued an urgent invitation to Mollet to visit him at his Chequers estate a few hours after French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau made a disturbing speech in Paris criticizing "enormous errors" of Western policy.
